Welcome to SENSHU UNIVERSITY PROFILE

Welcome to SENSHU

As of May 2018, there have been 2,743 people from 64 different countries/regions who have enrolled our undergraduate and graduate programs to those wishing to improve language and culture. Since the summer of 1996, we at Senshu University have shared in the mission of developing Japanese. To this day, Senshu University teaches western law and economics in the first institutions of higher learning to do so. In particular, the university's four historical figures, all of whom studied western law and economics, contributed significantly to our country’s development. The university in fact was a living legend. Senshu University student ID card.

To ensure that teachers are able to provide personal feedback to individual students, all classes are small with not more than 22 students per class. Class size is subject to change depending upon registration results of the student per arrival placement test.
